MIDSOUTH ASSOCIATION OF INDEPENDENT SCHOOLS

The Midsouth Association of Independent Schools (formerly the Mississippi Association of Independent Schools and the Mississippi Private School Association) was organized in 1968 with seven charter members. Today the MAIS has 120 member schools in four southern states with over 40,000 students and 3,500 teachers and administrators. The Association maintains a full-time staff of eight with an office located at 176 Country Place Parkway in Pearl, Mississippi. The Midsouth Association of Independent Schools is governed by a board of directors representing each member school and an executive committee composed of two members from each geographical district of the Association. The MAIS is empowered to regulate interscholastic competition and activities, accredit schools and certify teachers. Other services are provided to member schools as they relate to these three areas. The MAIS has a working relationship with the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and is part of the National Council for Private School Accreditation (NCPSA) along with being an Affiliate Member of the National Federation of State High School Associations.

Interscholastic activities are essential to the education of the majority of our youth and are most certainly an integral part of the school curriculum. Physical and emotional development are closely tied in with these activities, and all of us must do our part in making sure that everything is kept in its proper perspective.

Administrators, faculty, coaches, participants and fans are honor-bound to abide by the proper rules of ethics and behaviors. We must remember that school sports are not a matter of life and death. As the years pass, the score of a contest will become relatively unimportant. It is the conduct of those involved that will be remembered.

The Measure of Our Work

Successful graduates reflect the efforts of their Christian teachers throughout their adult lives. Daily, you're helping them build a biblical worldview and understand their studies, their passions, and God's call for them to represent Him in their lives. BJU Press supports those efforts by connecting faith, life, and work in every textbook.
